

Press release 27 August 2014

Check out the agenda for the Media & Learning Conference taking place on 20-21 November in Brussels

The conference agenda for the fifth Media & Learning conference taking place in Brussels on 20-21 November has been announced and registration for the conference is now open.

Here are some of the agenda highlights

- A review of media literacy initiatives in different parts of Europe featuring a keynote presentation by Vitor Reia Baptista, University of Algarve, Portugal
- Keynote presentation by celebrated movie-maker David Puttnam
- Discussions and demos about media supported remembrance education by Tim Plyming, BBC Learning, UK, Susanne Friz, FWU Institut für Film und Bild, Germany, Karen Vander Plaetse, Flemish Institute of Archiving, Belgium and Elsa Coupard, INA, France
- Talks about how well universities are getting to grips with the demand for more video and media services generally with Jörn Loviscach, Fachhochschule Bielefeld, Daniel Burgos, Universidad Internacional de La Rioja (UNIR) and Rob Higson & Charlie Davis, University of Derby, UK
- Short practical Master Classes where you can learn about creating animated video in the classroom, teaching programming to students, creating accessible video and visualising learning data
- Presentations about how media can support science teaching led by leading science communicator Jan De Coster who firmly believes in the value of interactive installations and robots to explain science to small children, students, and adults
- A debate about how well teaching programming can foster creativity in young people with demonstrations of different approaches including input from Lego Education and Devoxx4Kids
- Martina Chapman from the Eurovision Academy Faculty will be leading a discussion on the potential of cross-sector partnerships to unlock funding and creativity for media literacy projects
- Film Literacy will feature with a series of presentations of recently launched initiatives and a discussion on how to manage rights related to showing films in European schools

You can check out the rest of our agenda according as it is confirmed on the conference website here.

Book your place now by registering on our website.